

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

REPORT.

GENERAL TREASURER'S OFFICE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., January 1, 1909.

To the Honorable General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations:

Complying with the provisions of Chapter 33, Title VI, of the General Laws, I submit herewith a detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the treasury department for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1908.

It has long been evident to those who have studied the financial condition of the State, as set forth in the yearly reports of the treasury department, that the time was near at hand when the current receipts would be insufficient to meet its expenditures. This condition confronts us to-day.

Additional funds are absolutely needed to carry on the affairs of the State, not because of unwise or extravagant legislation, but to meet the legitimate demands of a growing population for modern methods and facilities for the transaction of public business, and to provide the improvements and conveniences so essential, even indispensable, to a thriving and progressive community.

The fixed charges of the State increase from year to year without a corresponding increase in current receipts. The income of 1908 barely equals that of 1907, due in part, perhaps, to the general business depression prevailing the past year, and the change in interest accounts of some of our financial institutions from participation to special deposit, thereby depriving the State of the revenue provided for by Chapter 29 of the General Laws.

A liberal estimate of the receipts for 1909 is $2,087,575. It will be seen by the table below that the fixed charges and the payment of the unexpended balances of special appropriations will not only absorb the entire income of 1909, but will make serious inroads in the receipts of 1910.

Salaries of State Officials, Heads of Departments, and Assistants.....	$103,800 00
Salaries of Judges, Supreme, Superior, and District Courts; Sheriffs, Officers, Jurors, Witnesses, and Expenses.....	325,150 00

	$2,188,084 53

In the above statement no account has been made of the additional sum required by the Bank Commissioner to more fully carry out the provisions of "An Act to Provide for the Incorporation and Regulation of Banks, Savings Banks, and Trust Companies," or the expense of issuing Highway and Penal and Reformatory bonds recently authorized by the people, or the many thousands of dollars annually required to meet the interest and provide a sinking fund to liquidate the bonds at maturity. The loss of revenue from the operation of Chapter 1566, Public Laws, exempting the property of Union soldiers or sailors, their wives or widows, from taxation, and the establishment of a School for Feeble-Minded at Exeter, will make no inconsiderable draft upon the revenue of the State.

To meet the demands made upon the treasury the past year the General Treasurer has been obliged to increase the floating debt to $250,000.00, the limit permitted by law. While a part of this debt was contracted in 1905 and 1906, and can be carried by a renewal of notes, provision should be made for its payment in part, at least.

It is evident from the facts above set forth, that without additional revenue the State cannot continue to conduct its affairs to the satisfaction and convenience of the public, maintain its credit, or meet with reasonable promptness its financial obligations.

Heretofore a depleted treasury has been replenished by an increase in the rate of the State tax, or by a revaluation of real and personal property by a State board. The former has now reached a figure that towns and cities regard as the limit they should be called upon to pay, and a State board of valuation is open to many objections.

Records of former boards show them to be expensive in operation and unsatisfactory in results, due, perhaps, to the limited time and opportunity of such boards to thoroughly examine and become familiar with actual values and conditions in all sections of the State, and their findings and recommendations have in no instance, so far as I know, been fully accepted and adopted by the General Assembly. The present method of assessing the State tax upon the valuation of the assessors of the several towns and cities has proven equitable and satisfactory, and the necessity of revenue for towns and cities has led to the rating of real estate, as a rule, to nearly its full cash value by the local boards. To change the present method would, in my opinion, be unadvisable.

Rhode Island is reputed to be one of our wealthiest States. As three-fourths of the State tax is levied and collected upon real estate, it follows that a large proportion of its personal wealth remains untaxed. This class of property will, no doubt, continue to escape its share of the public burden until some plan is devised to make it more apparent and tangible for assessment and taxation.

I cannot emphasize too strongly the necessity for more revenue. It is futile to contend that the State can get along by practicing rigid economy, or reducing appropriations to a minimum; for as the State grows, expenses increase, and improvements which must be made necessarily add to the demands upon its resources.

If in the opinion of the General Assembly it is unwise or inadvisable at this time to raise the tax rate, or the valuation of real property, the most pressing and important matter for its consideration is to find new sources by which receipts may be increased without imposing undue burdens upon the people.

The balance of the claim of Rhode Island against the United States, for arming, equipping, and subsisting its troops during the Spanish-American War, amounting to $52,463.01 is still unpaid. A bill to liquidate this claim is before the Senate Committee on Accounts and Claims, and favorable action is expected during the present session of Congress.

In the appendix may be found a statement in detail of the State House, Highway, Armory, Metropolitan Park Sinking Funds; the Permanent School Fund, the Touro Jewish Synagogue Fund, the Land Grant Fund of 1862, the Andersonville Monument Fund, and sundry other funds in custody of the State. Also a list of the sources of State revenue, with the amount derived from each.
